

Sponsored by the Department of Liberal Studies, NSSR and Eugene Lang College

Cultural Poetics and Social Judgement

Featuring: Rita Felski, (University of Virginia), Gregg Horowitz, (Pratt Institute), Paul Kottman, (NSSR), Sianne Ngai, (University of Chicago), and David Wellbery, (University of Chicago)

Friday March, 1 - 9am - 5pm - Starr Foundation Hall
Saturday March, 2 - 9:30am - 12:30pm- UL 105
The New School University Center, 63 Fifth Ave

Alighiero e Boetti

How do aesthetic judgments embody collective self-connections? What does it mean - concretely, as well as theoretically - to defend interpretive judgments about the world? How do such interpretations shape our forms of knowing?

Register here

THE
NEW SCHOOL